

EXT. CORNER GROCERY, CITY INTERSECTION, NIGHT.

It is dark and the intersection is well lit. A train rolls by on the elevated track overhead.

A car pulls to the side of the street, across from the grocery, and parks. A man gets out.

He walks across the street, and stops suddenly on the other side of the double yellow line. He turns around, and heads back towards the car. A truck slows and honks as he steps in front it.

He taps on the window of the car he exited, and put his hand over his mouth in a gentle pat.

The window of the car rolls down, and the hand of an unseen person emerges. The hand is dangling a mask.

He takes the mask, puts it on, and walks across the street into the grocery.

The intersection light changes several times.

He exits the store with two white plastic bags, and gets in the car.